

Shorncliffe station open day

An archaeological dig was recently carried out at Shorncliffe station, to support the station precinct heritage restoration.

Queensland Rail will be hosting a community open day to display a selection of items - some dating back to the 1890s - that were uncovered during the dig.

We invite you to come along and view the artefacts, meet the project team and learn more about the rich history of the station.

Location: Shorncliffe station carpark

Time and date: 11am to 3pm on Saturday 17 July

On the day you can:

- Talk to Niche, the heritage specialists, about the archaeological dig process.
- Have a close-up look at the artefacts and learn their history.
- View the old station ticket office, where the dig took place.
- Find out more about the restoration project, how the archaeological dig has influenced the station design and next steps.
- Enjoy a coffee or drink refreshment as you explore the findings from the station.

We look forward to seeing you all there!

*This will be a COVID-19 safe event. To ensure the wellbeing of all attendees, you will be required to lodge your attendance upon arrival via the 'Check in Qld' app.
